

Involvement '78 Seeks Campus Support

By TONY TILLER

Involvement '78, a term that has become very familiar to Saint Joe students, is the brainchild of the 1978 Student Association which will, says SA president Mark Behnke, give students a more direct voice in the student government.

"With a goal similar to that of the SA, Involvement '78 was created in response to the needs of the student body," comments Behnke. "Hopefully, each student will become involved in the student government in some way through this program."

It will attempt to give students a chance to participate by having activities organized from the dorm level. The main thrust of Involvement '78 is to have a certain dorm arrange and carry out a week of in-dorm events, all-campus events, or both.

"We have set aside nine weeks, or a week per dorm, for these activities," says Behnke, "and each dorm will be entitled to $235 to be used for its week."

The SA will still set up the major entertainment events (mixers, movies) during these nine weeks, and each dorm will set up three or four different activities during its respective week.

Each dorm is required to have at least two cultural or academic events before it can be eligible for a social event. This, notes Behnke, will provide the incentive "for each hall to do the best job it is capable of."

Each dorm governor will form a special committee composed of students from that dorm, and will consult this committee with regard to the type of activity to be sponsored.

Student response to this program has not been as enthusiastic as Behnke had hoped, but, he reports, he is still optimistic. He adds that faculty response to Involvement '78 has been superb.

"The faculty finally seems to be showing an interest in students and their activities," says Behnke. "It seems to be a result of the student committee formed last semester, at which a number of faculty were invited to, and participated in."

A special steering committee for Involvement '78 has been set up, with Jim Conde (so.-Gal.) as chairman. It will be the committee's duty to see that each dorm has its activities planned at least two-and-a-half weeks in advance. The first dorm to provide these activities will be Halas Hall, for the week of Sept. 17.

"This is one of the biggest changes the students have seen in their student government in some time," says Behnke. "But with a lot of hard work, not only by the executive officers but by everyone in the nine dorms, we hope to make Involvement '78 a complete success."

NEWSPAPER OF THE SAINT JOSEPH'S COLLEGE COMMUNITY

Vol. 42 Rensselaer, Indiana, Thursday, September 14, 1978 No. 2

WPUM Starts Programing Year; Student Participation Stressed

By REGINALD PULLIAM

WPUM, the Saint Joe College radio station, commences the new school year with an innovative and progressive approach to student broadcasting under the direction of Fred Berger, instructor in communications.

Among the many changes being instituted, says Berger, the most important is a greater emphasis on active student participation in the varied aspects of radio broadcasting.

In 1977 after having been converted from a carrier current station with a limited range and no FCC jurisdiction, to a broadcast station with an expanded range and subject to all FCC mandates, WPUM experienced several internal conflicts. A large portion of the student disc-jockeys expressed discontent at not being granted a more responsible role in the programing.

"The problem lies in determining the proper balance between student management and administrative control," states Berger.

"It must be pointed out that WPUM is not a student radio station, as was WOWI, the station's former acronym. The ultimate responsibility in case of conflict with the FCC falls in the hands of the licensee — Saint Joseph's College."

Recognizing the need for an increase in student direction, this year the management section includes station manager Mike Moyer (sr.-WSF); program director Dawn Stovall (so.-Jus.); music director Bob Hospodka (sr.-Noll); news and sports director

Jim Muhler (so.-WSF), and engineer Jeff Guenther (sr.-Noll).

Moyer reports, "Our biggest task is to provide a public service to our listening audience by instituting major changes from last year. By and large our listeners are into the contemporary scene with respect to music. Thus we must schedule ourselves with this in mind."

"Along with providing music to our audience it is our intention to schedule special programs of interest to the student body in the form of guest speakers," he explains.

Along with managerial changes, a new addition to the work structure of WPUM has been formulated. An "experience hierarchy" now designates the amount of experience and competence a disc-jockey has acquired, and demonstrates on the air.

Level A constitutes the management level. At level B, students will be allowed to program and broadcast contemporary music. Level C students will be permitted to broadcast but must restrict their selections to classical, jazz and dinner music.

A student in Level D is considered to be in basic training and as such will not be allowed to operate the audio board with the exception of the news and public service messages.

With the goal of serving the public interest as well as training the prospective radio broadcaster for future professional contacts with broadcasting, WPUM appears to be well on its way to becoming a top-notch radio station, Berger reports.

Special Classes Planned

A series of extracurricular classes will be offered to Saint Joe students this semester, says Diane Jennings, director of student activities.

"These classes are designed to give our students something constructive to do on those weekends when there are no activities planned," she says. "They learn something they wish to do, and enjoy themselves in learning it."

Classes offered include: "Auto Mechanics for Women"; "Cooking for Singles"; "Crafts/Macrame"; "Cross Country Schemes"; "Disco Dancing"; "Self-Protection"; and "Sewing/Quilting".

"We are currently looking for people qualified in these areas to conduct the classes," says Jennings, "and we will possibly get some professional people from these areas."

Classes will begin later this month, and will be held on Sunday afternoons in Halleck Center. Students can sign up for these classes in the personnel dean's office.

Also being offered is a program to have Saint Joe students visit homes in Rensselaer for dinner and overnight stays. Jennings feels that this offers an excellent opportunity for students and "townies" to become acquainted with one another.

"This will provide students with the chance to see how the townspeople live, and the townspeople to meet and get better acquainted with various students," comments Jennings. "This will give each group a better understanding of the other and their respective communities."

Students interested in taking advantage of this program can sign up in the office of the personnel dean.

Senators Named

Winners of the 1978 elections for the Student Senate are:

Aquinas Reginald Pulliam (sr.)
Bennett Leo Pryma (so.), Keith Weber (sr.)

Justin... Valerie Bauer (jr.), Claudia Donnelly (jr.), Mary Ann Klemm (jr.), Therese Mahrt (jr.), Beth Novack (so.), Anne Scollard (sr.)

Noll..... Gerry Hemmelgarn (jr.), John Vidal (so.)

Seifert (East) Ken Coffey (jr.), Don Penrod (sr.)

Seifert (West) Ken Wolin (sr.)

The first senate meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 19.

Matt Langer (so.-Mer.) is one of the many students who provide the Saint Joseph's community with news and music on the campus radio station, WPUM.

Pumas Sweat It Out

If you have been the victim of some of the many flies abounding in the cafeteria, you are not alone. And why, you ask, are there so many flies in the cafeteria? Because the doors and windows must be kept open.

And why, you inquire further, must the doors and windows be kept open? Because, dear students, the air conditioning in Halleck Center is not working due to the bumbling mistakes and wasted financial outlay of the college.

Early in July, the air conditioning in Halleck conked out. The college, in its usual all-seeing wisdom, decided to have the old and dilapidated air conditioner in back of Halleck repaired.

However, they saw quite soon that this was a mistake. The newly-repaired air conditioner had broken down again. So, there was nothing else to do but to get a new air conditioner, which was done posthaste.

However, the college, again with all-seeing wisdom, decided to pick it up to save on delivery charges. They soon saw their mistake as this air conditioner was dropped and broken behind Halleck, causing the college to pay out another substantial sum to have it repaired.

But have no fear. It is now safely installed. Maybe it will be turned on by Christmas.

WPUM's Renaissance

WPUM, the Saint Joe radio station, is back in the hands of the students. We find this highly commendable.

It was formed with the basic idea to give students in communications experience in working in actual radio station procedures. This, combined with the fact that its major listening audience is the Saint Joe student, makes it even more necessary that students be allowed to have a major part in the running of the station.

When WPUM commenced operations last year, there was great hope and anticipation from all sides that Saint Joe would finally have a radio station that we could be proud of.

However, because of severe internal conflicts which caused many of the student volunteers to leave, the goals set for the station earlier in the year were never achieved.

Much of the credit for making WPUM truly a representative of the Saint Joe community goes to Fred Berger, advisor to WPUM. Credit is also due the many students who serve the radio station with the dedication that it deserves.

As the school year moves into full swing, many students find it necessary to spend much of their time studying. Here, John Gadd (fr.-Gal.) tries intently to solve an accounting problem.

Dear Editor,

In your article on SJC sports in the last issue (Aug. 31), you did not mention the Soccer Club here on campus. We need the support and interest of students, so they need to know that we do indeed exist and are thriving.

In 12 games this year we are playing schools from Notre Dame to Purdue. We would like to thank the many people who made this possible; whose hard work and time are helping to bring skilled and enthusiastic soccer to Saint Joe.

Sincerely,
The Soccer Club

Dear Editor,

We would like to take time to congratulate STUFF on the factual story on Drexel Hall. In the past, the articles have been one-sided against Drexel. But we believe the time is now to let freshmen Pumas know what really goes on here in Pumaville.

One Point Of View

Property Storage A Joke

By JAMES E. GWYN, JR.
"Saint Joseph's College is not responsible for loss of or damage to personal property of the student from any cause."

Have you ever seen this before, in one form or another? Well, it is a rule of the college and it has its effects on many of the students who have had personal possessions damaged for a variety of reasons, and in some cases, even stolen.

It is an effective clause, inasmuch as it protects the college from shelling out money to all students who have had items damaged or stolen. But what does the school do to protect the personal property of students left in their care? Practically nothing.

A typical example is the storage situation. This year, it was handled in such an amateurish manner that it could literally be called a joke. And it's a joke with things that many students value.

For those not familiar with the situation, it was one where, first, too many items were stored in one place (Justin basement); second, pieces of furniture were thrown about, causing a number of damages; and third, students who had nothing stored were able to walk in and "claim" items (other students' property) that they thought would look good in their rooms.

For the past two years, we have been deceived by the upper echelon of Saint Joe's with no consideration for the students in the dorm.

It all started two years ago when we were promised our dorm would be remodeled, and when we came back to school, we discovered nothing had been done towards the modernization. However, the first floor was closed off and five members of the dorm were relocated elsewhere on campus with no explanation whatsoever. Our pre-Civil War furniture had been replaced with W.W. II material from Gallagher Hall.

We finally realized that we would have to take matters into our own hands. After getting permission from a college authority, we started to repaint our dorm. After two days of continuous work, another member of the administration came out and halted our efforts.

Things were pretty calm up to the end of the semester. After a lengthy meeting with two of Saint Joe's finest, we were led to believe that after the 1977-78 school year, Drexel would be repaired and brought out of urban decay.

This past August, after the deadline for payment of outrageous and phenomenal tuition plus dorm damage fees, and two weeks prior to the opening of school, we were informed about the closing of Drexel Hall. The administration gave us no say in the matter and there was no way we could save our dorm.

This is just another example of the lack of communication between Saint Joe's and the student body. You would think that with the prices we pay to attend Saint Joe's, that the student body would have more to say about what goes on at our school.

Believe it or not, freshmen, this is the way it is at Pumaville.

Signed,
Former members of Drexel in body but now just in spirit.

Pumas To Host Golden Eagles Saturday

By MONIQUE LACOUTURE

Saint Joseph's football Pumas play host to the Northeastern Illinois Golden Eagles Saturday afternoon at 1:30 in the Pumas' 1978 season home opener.

Sports Roundup

Netters Look Toward Exciting Season

CROSS COUNTRY

"Our cross country program is finally on its way to respectability," says head coach Dave Smith. Last Saturday the Puma runners placed seventh of eight teams in the Wabash Hokum Karem but showed signs of steady improvement over last year's performance.

GOLF

This year's Puma golf team hopes to improve on its fifth-place conference finish of a year ago. With six matches on tap for the season, the Puma golfers will be counting on veterans Mike Hart and Ken Renspie for solid performances during the season.

In their season opener Tuesday, the Puma golfers finished tenth among 11 teams in the Butler Invitational, played at Eagle Creek Golf Course in Indianapolis.

Team scores were: DePauw 324, Butler 326, Purdue-Calumet 330, Indiana Central 333, Franklin and Valparaiso 339, DePauw (second team) 343, Wabash 350, IUPUI Indianapolis 361, Saint Joseph's 374 and Marian 376.

Under the direction of Father William Stang, the soccer club is looking toward a long and hopefully profitable season. Last Saturday, however, the team got off to a bad start, suffering a 7-0 loss at the hands of St. Francis at Fort Wayne.

Manchester will be the Pumas' guests tomorrow at 2 p.m. for the season's first home game. Notre Dame and Tri-State will host Saint Joe's soccer team on Sept. 18 and 23 respectively.

There is also talk about the possibility of the club becoming a varsity sport on campus.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

Saint Joseph's women's tennis team, off to a 1-2 start

Saint Joseph's carried most of the play but had to hang on as Ferris State took advantage of four Puma turnovers and two blocked kicks to gain a 10-10 tie in last Saturday's game in Big Rapids, Mich.

Northeastern Illinois brings with them 35 returning lettermen who helped the Golden Eagles post a 6-4-0 record in 1977 and earn the championship of the Illini-Badger Conference. All-conference performers tackle Jim D'Antonio and linebacker Mike Rogers, head the list of quality players for head coach Dan Lanno.

According to Puma head coach Bill Jennings, Saint Joseph's is ready to play. "We're an eager and aggressive team this year," says Jennings.

Bench depth is the main weakness in the 1978 Puma team. Saint Joe's does have solid starting units, but that's where the solidity stops.

"It's not that we don't have the bodies, we just don't have the right quality of players to give us enough depth," Jennings says.

Injuries to key players may once again hamper the successfulness of the '78 Pumas.

At this time, Kirk Adams, George Descheemaker, and Pat O'Brien will miss the first few games with assorted ailments. It has not yet been determined when these players will return to the lineup.

Excitement was in the air at Ferris State as both teams went scoreless in the first quarter, and with just 4:40 left in the second quarter, Saint Joe scored first on a Ray Banary-to-Larry Shelton pass. Just three minutes and 27 seconds later, Ferris State inched closer, 7-3, on a 36-yard field goal.

Late in the third quarter, Ferris State moved ahead 10-7, and remained there until halfway through the final quarter when the Pumas tied it at 10-10 on a 36-yard Banary field goal with 7:34 to play.

After Saturday's game, Saint Joseph's takes to the road to face Olivet Sept. 23 and Indiana Central Sept. 30, before returning to Alumni Field to host Franklin Oct. 7.

"We wanted to win this ball game, and Ferris State was a lot happier with the tie game than we were," says Jennings. "We haven't been emphasizing scoring enough, but we can change that."

Jennings adds that he may use freshman Paul Loviseck, a member of the Indiana high school all-stars who played in the annual summer game at Bloomington, as a placekicker to help Banary. Loviseck also was a quality punter in high school.

this fall, promises to give Puma fans plenty of exciting, competitive action. The addition of freshmen Barb Salkeld, Kathy Kersteff, and Jan Sturenberg to the returning squad gives them a blend of youth and experience.

In their first meet, against St. Mary's of South Bend, Sept. 6, the team lost 8-1 with Sue Fitzgerald capturing the only point in her singles match.

Fortunes quickly changed for the Puma netters as they traveled to Fort Wayne to play Indiana University/Purdue University. The women walked away with five singles and two doubles matches as they scored a 7-2 win.

Against DePauw, the Pumas suffered their second setback by a 9-0 count. "Losing to DePauw is no disgrace," remarks coach Father Ambrose Ruschau, "and we are still looking toward a good year."

Saturday our netters will face Huntington at home in a 10 a.m. meet before traveling on to face Butler on the 20th and Anderson and Hanover in a tri-meet in Anderson, Sept. 23. On Sept. 26 Purdue-Calumet invades the Saint Joe courts to challenge the Pumas in a 3 p.m. contest.

IM's Offer Varied Athletic Programs

By RON TRIPPEL

Under the direction of Dennis Grady (sr.-Ben.), his assistant, Colin Aiken (jr.-Noll) and women's intramural athletic director Susan Buntin, Saint Joseph's 1978-79 intramural program has already begun.

Opening activities include this week's softball tournament, men's football, scheduled to begin Sept. 19, and women's flag football. Other first-semester seasons yet to come are in men's basketball, floor hockey, bowling, women's basketball and volleyball.

This year's directors have already shown a willingness to work with the students and to incorporate any game or sport into the IM program, provided there is sufficient student interest.

This attitude, combined with a number of special events still in the planning stages, demonstrates the intentions of intramural directors to involve everyone on campus in the program.

"In order to settle complaints quickly we have set up a central office and will hold regular weekly meetings of IM dorm representatives," says Grady.

Any student with ideas or questions concerning the IM program is encouraged to see his or her dorm representative or one of the above-named IM directors.

Heartland Conference To Test SJC; Complete Football Scheduling Easier

By RON TRIPPEL

For the first time in 28 years, Saint Joseph's football team will not be vying for an Indiana Collegiate Conference crown. As members of the newly-named Heartland Collegiate Conference, the Pumas will face five of the seven conference opponents in what appears to be our final division III football season.

"The Heartland Conference creates a larger conference and enables us to schedule seven conference games in a season," comments Richard Scharf, athletic director.

The five former ICC schools — Saint Joseph's, Indiana Central, Butler, Valparaiso, and Evansville, will join Ashland (Ohio) College, Franklin (Ind.) College, and Georgetown (Ky.) College in the HCC. Currently, Ashland, Valparaiso, and Saint Joseph's are the only non-division II schools in the conference.

However, Ashland and Saint Joseph's are planning to move up to division II status in the near future.

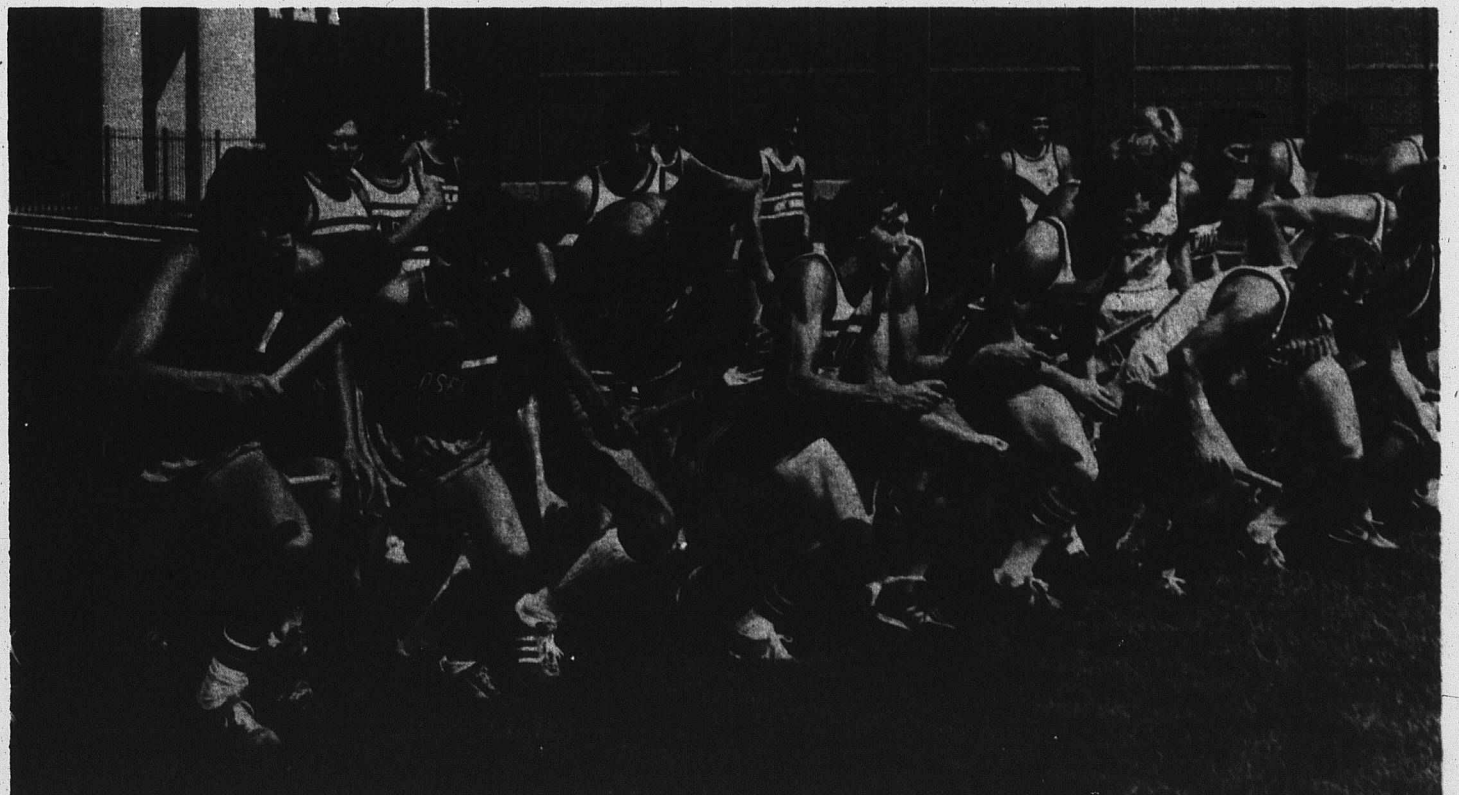

Other HCC competition will include golf, baseball, tennis, track, cross country, wrestling and swimming. The larger conference is expected to improve the level of competitive play within the league.

Scharf explains, "Another benefit we receive is the security and stability of the financial aid segment of our football program." Each school will have 30 full grants or 45 equivalencies for its football program.

All HCC championships will be determined on a tournament basis with the single exception of football, to be determined on a percentage basis in 1978.

"We are looking toward a very successful first season in the HCC," says Scharf, "in football and the other sports as well."

The Heartland Collegiate Conference is a step toward the goal of obtaining a division II status in all sports, Scharf says.

Saint Joe runners John Bekelya (fr.-Gal.), Tony Martin (fr.-Noll) and Jim Gwyn (jr.-Noll) are closest to the camera as Saint Joe joins seven other schools Saturday at Wabash Little Giant Stadium for the start of the annual Hokum Karem.

Summer Music Session Hits Record Enrollment

A record enrollment of 360 reflected the growing popularity of the Rensselaer Program of Church Music and Liturgy this past summer. Established in 1960 as a specialized portion of the undergraduate summer session, the Rensselaer Program has experienced a steady expansion and now includes both graduate and undergraduate degree sequences, a non-degree certificate sequence, and several specialized short sessions. The program is under the direction of Father Lawrence Heiman, professor of music.

The 1978 offerings attracted 116 for the June Workshop in Church Music and Liturgy, 36 for the ten-day Liturgy Institute, 70 for the seven-week Summer Session, and 138 for the Workshop in Afro-American Liturgy and Sacred Music.

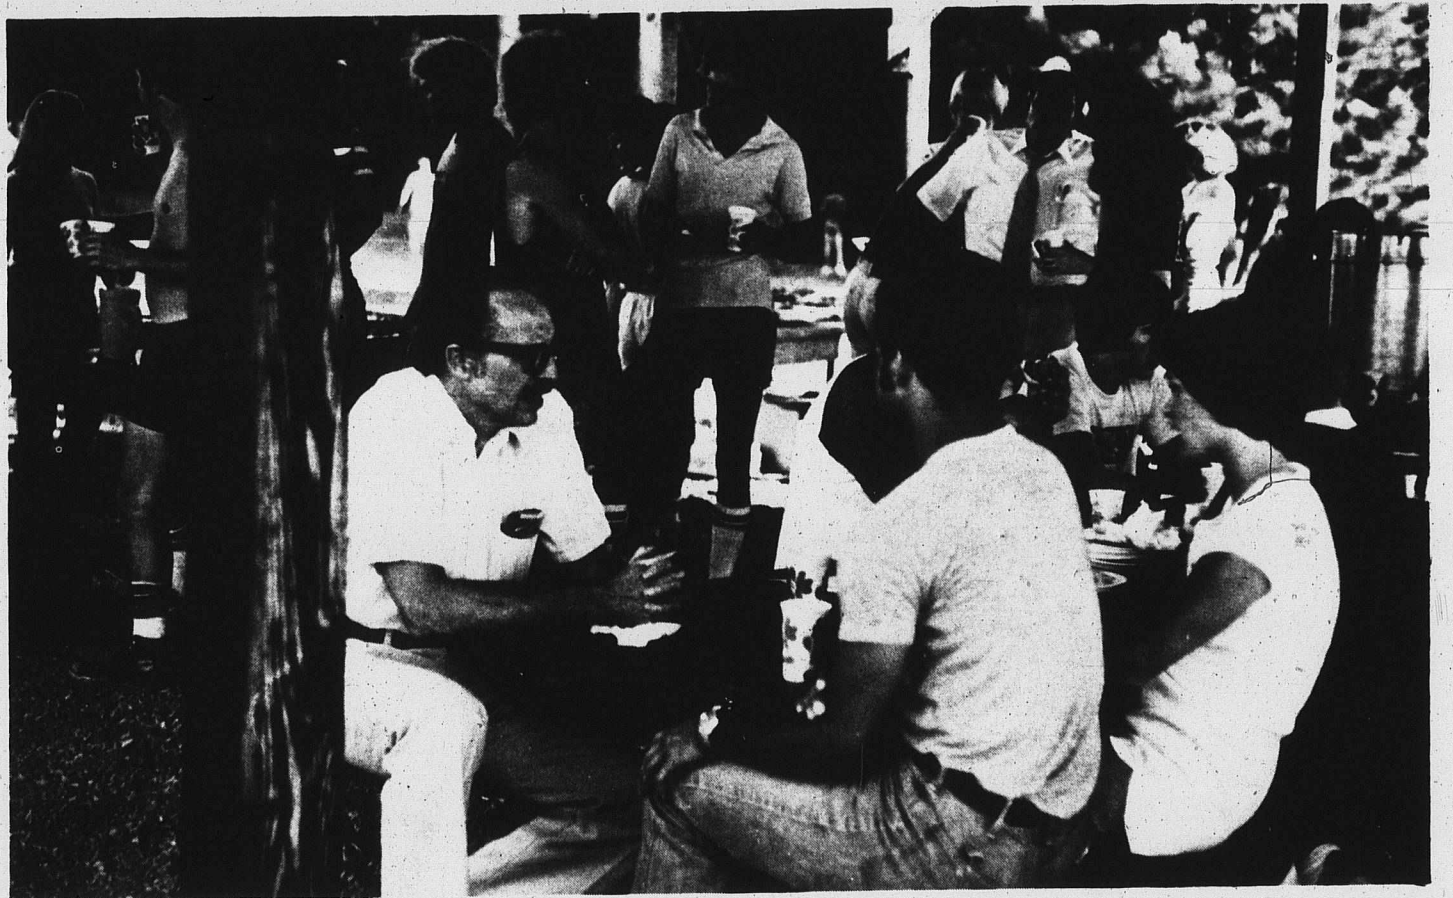

Students came from across the United States and from Canada, the Philippines, and the West Indies. Four were scholarship students sponsored by Archbishop P. J. Skinner of St. John's, Newfoundland. Instructors included some of the nation's leading church musicians and liturgists.

Highlight of the 1978 summer was the combined summer choral concert and graduation exercises on Sunday afternoon, July 30. Four students were awarded the Liturgical Certificate, five the bachelor's degree, and one, Sister Joelle Maurer of Merrill, Wis., the Master of Arts degree. Former organ instructor in the Rensselaer Program, Sister Theophane Hytrek, O.S.F., was awarded an honorary doctorate of sacred music.

Sister Theophane, nationally acclaimed organist and composer, is professor of music at Alverno College, Milwaukee. She holds a doctorate in music composition from Eastman School of Music, University of Rochester (N.Y.), and is a Fellow of the American Guild of Organists.

In 1970, 1971, and 1973, she served on the summer music faculty of Saint Joseph's College. Saint Joe alumni will remember her magnificent performance as organ accompanist for three special glee club presentations in collaboration with the glee club and orchestra of Alverno College — Handel's "Messiah" in Chicago's Orchestra Hall and later in McCormick Place Auditorium, and Pachelbel's "Te Deum" in the college fieldhouse in commemoration of the Diamond Jubilee of Saint Joseph's College.

Seniors and faculty found it easy to mix in a non-classroom situation at last week's senior-faculty picnic. Dr. Don Kreilkamp casually converses with seniors Dennis Grady (Ben.) and Karen O'Brien (Jus.).

Property Storage

The last is a knock against a very small percentage of the student body. On this, which is supposedly a closely-knit campus, a few students find it terribly hard to respect the rights of their fellow students as members of the Saint Joe community. They could just as easily have been the victims.

However, most of the damage and theft could have been prevented if the storage personnel had enforced the rules of procedure for claiming items left in storage. Instead, they just sat about, and let anyone enter and "claim their own possessions."

When Alfred Hentschel, superintendant of buildings and grounds, was confronted with the problem, he claimed that "nothing is wrong with the storage procedure; no one has reported any thefts to my office." Perhaps complaints are just not reaching his office.

Hopefully, steps will be taken to prevent a repeat of the chaotic situation which took place this year. It is also hoped that the college begins to realize that most students value their property, and that every attempt should be made to protect it whenever possible.

Danforth Fellowships Data Available

Inquiries about the Danforth Graduate Fellowships, to be awarded by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., in April 1979, are invited, according to Dr. Robert J. Garrity, vice-president for academic affairs.

Fellowships are open to all qualified persons who have serious interest in careers of teaching in colleges and universities, and who plan to study for a Ph.D. in any field of study common to the undergraduate liberal arts curriculum in the United States.

Approximately 60-65 Fellowships will be awarded to college seniors who are nominated by Baccalaureate Liaison Officers. Applicants for the baccalaureate awards must be college seniors and may not have undertaken graduate-level programs of study. The deadline to seek information about the campus nomination process is Oct. 24, 1978.

The Danforth Graduate Fellowship is a one-year award but is normally renewable until completion of the advance degree or for a maximum of four years of graduate study. Fellowship stipends are based on individual need, but they will not exceed $2,500 for single Fellows, and for married Fellows with no children.

Currently, the Danforth Foundation serves the following areas: higher education primarily through sponsorship of programs administered by the staff, pre-collegiate education through grant-making and program activities, and urban education in metropolitan St. Louis through grant-making and program activities.

... brief stuff ...

Are you the kind of student who usually studies hard before going to bed, or the kind who goes to bed, sets the alarm for five o'clock, and then crams? If you are a pre-sleep studier, you may be getting better grades as a result of your study habits than someone who does the work afterward.

Recent research into sleep and study habits shows that sleep prior to study disrupts memory significantly, unless considerable waking time is allowed before digging into the material you want to learn. The shorter the period of sleep that precedes the studying, the more this sleep disrupts learning.

It is fairly common knowledge among upperclassmen that Justin Hall, Saint Joe's newest dorm, is built backwards. It is rumored that the building contractor, in the typical Saint Joe manner, had the blueprints upside down when work was started.

Consequently, the front walk and the concrete pedestal (built for either a statue or a flagpole) are now facing the cornfields south of the college, while its rear end is pointing toward the college.

A recent survey at the University of Colorado has revealed that students who smoke, and many who don't, prefer marijuana to tobacco.

A Rhode Island woman has recently filed suit against the Roman Catholic Church after she discovered she had been praying at the wrong gravesite for 17 years, believing that her husband was buried there.

A district court has ordered a former University of Illinois student to repay the entire amount of the scholarship loan, which he had refused to pay because he claimed his college diploma was worthless.

Social Preview

By TONY TILLER

Since school has been in session for nearly three weeks now, all you activity-starved Pumas are probably wondering what's happening. Well, your fears can be squelched, because we have got a lineup for you!

And because we all know that constant studying rots the brain and causes cancer (what doesn't?!), these events should prevent that.

Saturday, Sept. 16, mixer — featuring Johnny Starr and the Meteors, 9 p.m. — 12:30 a.m., ballroom.

Johnny Starr and the Meteors specialize in music of the fifties. If the resurgence of things connected with the fifties is any indicator, then this band should be thoroughly enjoyed by all who attend.

Sunday, Sept. 17, SJC neighbors' ice cream social, 1 p.m. — 4 p.m., outside Halleck Center.

Ice cream will be served at this event, and all members of Saint Joe and the surrounding community are invited, free of charge. This event will permit members of the community to meet and get to know students on their home ground. Compliments of Halas Hall as part of Involvement '78.

Saturday, Sept. 23, social event — featuring Kevin O'Connor, 7 p.m., auditorium.

Kevin O'Connor is an impressionist with five years of experience working before large audiences. This event, which is also sponsored by Halas Hall, should provide a pleasant diversion.

Saturday, Sept. 23, disco, 9 p.m. — 12:30 a.m., ballroom.

Put on your disco shoes, and get ready to move! This mixer will have a light show, and plenty of room to dance. A good time to be had by all.

Sunday, Sept. 24, movie — The Effect of Gamma Rays On Man-In-The-Moon Marigolds, 7:30 p.m., and 10 p.m., auditorium.

This powerful and moving film will leave some people disturbed and others exhilarated. It stars Joanne Woodward as an alcoholic mother, and it portrays her two young daughters' struggle to cope with her problem.
